

Dear Sirs,

Please leave the do not call list as it is in Wisconsin. It is very enjoyable to not have any interruptions every evening when my wife and I are having a conversation. I do believe these companies do have a right to sell us their products and merchandise. If my wife or I need something from these companies, we will call them. That is why we purchase a phone service. I do not need them calling me everyday trying to solicit their products. I feel what the FCC needs to realize is that I also have a right to privacy. If I do not want someone on my property, I have the legal right to post it and they would be charged with trespassing if they come on it. The cities and towns also pass ordinances forbidding the soliciting in their areas. The FCC should keep these laws as they are for the same reason. People do not want to be harassed, whether by the phone or coming to their house. Thank you.
